Prompts to Encourage Self-Management of Projects
The questions in this checklist help students to direct their own learning.

Instructions: Use these questions to guide your work on the project:

☐ What do I know now?
- o I ask myself questions to help me think about what I know
- o I organize my current knowledge
- o I make predictions about what I think I'm going to learn

☐ What are my options?
- o I identify possibilities
- o I explore options
- o I make choices
- o I create opportunities

☐ What do I need to find out?
- o I plan my research strategy
- o I collect the necessary information to make an informed decision

☐ What choice will I make and how will I implement it? What goal setting strategies can I use now and in the future?
- o I synthesize the information into my own thoughts
- o I communicate the information thinking about my audience and purpose
- o I formulate a plan of action to pursue my chosen option
- o I modify my plan if new information arises that warrants a change

☐ Now what?
- o I evaluate the results of my actions
- o I use my learning to establish new actions or goals
